EDON Corporation manufactures fiberglass architectural ornamental products in Horsham, Pennsylvania, including columns, column covers, cornices, and domes. The company produces architectural ornaments for interior and exterior applications using B.O.C.A. and local building and fire codes. EDON can replicate items to meet the design requirements in restoration projects where the original materials are unavailable or have become cost prohibitive. EDON has provided its products for Historical Reproduction projects throughout the Country. Working closely with Architects, Designers, and Historical Committees, you'll find that its Architectural Fiberglass Products have been used due to their lightweight, cost, and low maintenance. EDON Fiberglass can match existing profiles for a custom piece or provide a standard molded product closely matching the original. The company work with Government, Education, Commercial, Religious, and Individual customizations.
