Whitco Roofing, Inc. is a full-service Commercial and Industrial Roofing contractor in Atlanta, Georgia, offering various industrial, institutional, and commercial roofing and waterproofing services. Expertise, financial strength, and resources allow Whitco to offer various services ranging from repairs, and preventive maintenance, to multi-million dollar replacements. After the initial roof installation, knowing your roof's preventative maintenance needs and schedule is pertinent. Preventive maintenance keeps your roof in good working condition and prevents minor issues from becoming costly significant issues. Roof issues, including moisture penetration, heat-loss areas, and related building envelope deficiencies, can be identified using roof infrared scanning technology. These problems aren't always visible to the naked eye, so Whitco uses infrared and other leak and moisture detection technologies, such as Electric Field Vector Mapping and nuclear scans, to ensure your roof's long-term health is being addressed. Whitco serves all of Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Tennessee, Florida, North Carolina, and South Carolina.
