With multidisciplinary experience in industrial, commercial, and marine services, Guildfords helps shape people, buildings, ships, and refineries. The company's services have expanded to help shape Canada's people, buildings, ships, and refineries. Its services include asbestos and lead abatement, mold and fungicidal remediation, polyurethane foam application, fire-stopping and penetration seals, structural steel fireproofing, spray-applied thermal and acoustic insulation, and specialized coatings applications. Guildfords was owned and operated by four generations of the Guildford family from 1906 until 2000, when it was purchased by Multiglass International, an insulation distribution company headquartered in Brampton, Ontario. The company has its Head Office in Dartmouth, NS. It maintains branch offices and operations throughout Atlantic Canada with locations in Sydney and Havre Boucher in Nova Scotia, St. John's in Newfoundland and Labrador, and Moncton and Saint John in New Brunswick. The current ownership group purchased Guildfords in 2015.
