Delta Faucet Company is the largest U. S. manufacturer of residential and commercial faucets. You'll be in the right place for inspiration when you visit its website, from style and product innovations to practical ways to enjoy your most lived-in spaces. Learn what's trending, take quizzes to pinpoint your style, and find featured renovations to influence your next project. The company pairs thoughtful features, like turning on your kitchen faucet with a tap of your elbow, with breathtaking designs and products built to last a lifetime. Delta prioritizes products that address today's environmental concerns, such as water conservation and quality. It's no wonder the Delta brand is a leading innovator in how you use water daily - after all, the best eureka moments happen in the shower. Delta Faucet Company, a division of Masco Corporation, is located in Indianapolis, Indiana.
